

Jackson Merrill comes from Hartford, Connecticut where he was Organist and Director of Music Ministries at Trinity Church. In addition to this work, Jackson was the Choral Director of Trinity Academy in Hartford and sang in various choirs at Yale University. Jackson holds the Bachelor of Music degree from Jacksonville University where he was awarded such honors as the Harvey Scholl Prize in Piano, the Excellence in Performance Award, and 2016 College of Fine Arts Student of the Year. While in northeast Florida, Jackson performed occasionally with the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra. Jackson is a graduate student of James Kibbie at the University of Michigan. At Michigan, he was awarded the Marilyn Mason Scholarship, the Patricia Barret Ludlow Scholarship, and the Chris Schroeder Scholarship.